

BAD TIMING

After the local lawman captured your partner you were determined to break him out of jail. Following behind, you trailed the lawman to town, and under the cover of darkness you make your way to the jail. The only trouble is, the lawman sensed something was up and moved your buddy to the smokehouse. When you sneak into the jail, you realize your mistake when you see the empty cell. As you stare into the empty cell, you hear the laughter of the lawman as he approaches the jail.

Starting line: “Lawmen aren’t supposed to be that smart or sneaky!”

Shooter will start standing in front of the empty cell gripping the bars of the cell. Rifle and shotgun are staged on the rest in the cell. At the start signal, move to the rest and engage the pistol targets with five shots on the right target, then five shots on the left target. Holster pistols, retrieve rifle, and engage rifle targets in the same manner as the pistol targets. Discard the rifle on the rest, retrieve shotgun, move to the right rest, and engage shotgun targets until down.
